

Can our children handle big questions like 'Did our world have a beginning?'

This is one of the meaningful questions children engage with as part of the curriculum package for RE and Worldviews.

In all the units, the lessons encourage pupils to consider their own beliefs as they develop their 'ways of knowing' to explore how others respond, in both religious and non-religious contexts.

Below are some initial responses from Year One children at the start of the unit...

